

BEST PRESS – 2014 JOSHUA GRENACHE MATARO SHIRAZ

“Low (or no) oak but full of attractive fruit flavour. There's just enough tannin to give the wine shape and keep all those exuberant fruits tidy as well. Blueberry, aniseed, five spice, florals. It's jubey, joyous and quite unreasonably delicious.”

93 POINTS, CAMPBELL MATTINSON, AUSTRALIAN WINE COMPANION 2015

“For my tastes, these are some of the best wines coming out of the Barossa.”

94 POINTS, GARY WALSH, THE WINE FRONT, JUNE 2015

“Full purple/red colour; bright, with similarly fresh, vibrant red cherry to raspberry aromas. Fruit-driven, clean and fresh, as well as light and soft on the tongue. Easy drinking; lovely, smooth, low tannin texture. No evidence of oak. Modest length but very good harmony. Excellent ready-drinking, everyday red.”

89 POINTS, HUON HOOKE, HUONHOOKE.COM MARCH 2015

“Medium garnet-purple colored, the 2014 Joshua has a lovely, expressive nose of ripe black cherries, black raspberries and red roses with pepper and Chinese five spice hints. Medium to full-bodied, it fills the palate with lively red berry and spice flavors supported by satiny tannins and finishing with great length.”

91 POINTS, LISA PERROTI BROWN, EROBERTPARKER.COM JUNE 2015

RIGHTEOUS PLEASURE

