Barossa Valley

2014 BIG JIM SHIRAZ

"It saw 50% new French oak. Details on the side of the bottle belong in that special field of modern nonsense so often mined by wineries nowadays, save for the fact that it's from the Stonewell area of the Barossa.

The wine itself is impressive. Smooth, deeply flavoured, ripped with blackberry and dark chocolate but with savoury nuances, or at least flavours that give a nod to savouriness. Ground coffee, earth, woodsmoke, even peppers. It's a mouthful, and a very good one."
